

LOVE LETTERS

The under-rated and un-loved?

Never.

Yes young gun creatives are sprouting quicker than ever, but there is no better time to relive the glory of many years past. A little vanity shared by great people if you will, and we all know added greatness comes with age.

Qompendium Love Letters takes us back to all the childhood wildisms and questionable college years of our beloved designers, way before there was a Facebook.

A project by Qompendium

HEARD IT THROUGH THE GRAPEVINE?

We want to know, what didn't you say to your first unrequited love? Haven't we all passed around sweet nothings in class and many epic love letters have gone down in the history of time – some salacious, some endearing, some utterly dirty, and others heroically romantic.

You've now been tasked to write and design a love letter to a designer of choice with a marriage proposal at note's end.

It was Johnny Cash who once said to his beloved June, "you've got a way with words and a way with me as well," so what do you have to say?

Were you a smooth operator or awkward lark for the first kiss? Any apologies for spilling an entire smoothie all over his or her shirt? Go all out. Suggestive flirting is encouraged.

HOW TO CONTRIBUTE?

You will be part of an ongoing project which will be featured on Qompendium, additionally it will be printed as a monograph dedicated to this subject and showcased as a travelling exhibition.

Help us create genuine content by sending the best of yourself.

From all contributions, the Qompendium editors will choose fictive designer couples who will then design and write a love letter, which can be an actual romantic letter, a typeface, a typographic approach or anything that depicts their love to each other.

WHAT TO DO FIRST?

Please send us a minimum of five to maximum fifteen hi-res images (300 DPI, RGB) from your childhood, college years, and your parents with the following information:

- City, year, photographer
- and a short anecdote to the pictures

WHAT TO DO NEXT?

You are part of this project because we have high expectations in your contributions. Help us curate an impeccable line up. Send this PDF to five creatives that you think are perfect candidates for Qompendium Love Letters.

DEADLINE?

Please send your submission as a WeTransfer download link by the 28th April, 2014
mail\(at\)qompendium\(dot\)comqompendium(dot)com)

COPYRIGHT?

With your submission you agree to transfer non-exclusive copyrights to Qompendium for the entire duration of the project both online, for exhibition purposes and for all printed-matter connected to the project.
